

WHATS ON AT COOINDA CAT RESORT

Carry Cage Amnesty

At Cooinda Cat Resort your cat's health & safety is our NUMBER 1 priority.

We see lots of Kitties each year and one thing that concerns us greatly is the way in which they arrive at Cooinda—Yes we are talking carry cages, pet carriers and the like!

There are many reasons why you should have a secure carry cage to transport your kitty but the NUMBER 1 reason is to keep them safe & secure.

Cats arrive at Cooinda without cages, in pillow slips, in cardboard boxes, in dodgy cages and in carriers that should never have been sold for the purpose of transporting animals.

We know that you may only ever transport your cat once or twice a year

1. Once to the vet for Vaccinations &
2. Then to the cattery for holidays.

The problem with this is that it only takes one scare for your kitty to take off leaving you distressed & kitty missing!

So with the desire to help you and our furry friends stay safe we asked ourselves “How can we help you to keep all our furry friends safe until they get to us?” and the answer was clear:

A Carry Cage Amnesty

For those of you who are prepared to put up your hand and admit that your carry cage could use with an update or you need a carry cage we are prepared to give you a

20% DISCOUNT

On all our secure carry cages

The only thing you have to do is hand over the dodgy cage so we can destroy it.

Our Goal
to eliminate all cat carry cages that are not safe for their Occupants.

We would love to eliminate all dodgy and not fit for purpose carry cages to keep all our furry friends safe.

Should you not wish to take advantage of our special offer we would love to provide you with a check list to help you when choosing a carry cage for your kitty.

Note: At Cooinda Cat Resort we accept no responsibility for any damage or loss for our guests arriving in unsafe, damaged or unfit carriers or without a carrier.

Carry Cage Check List

When necessary cats can exhibit amazing strength and so when purchasing a carry cage you may want to ask yourself the following questions:

What type of cat you have?

Is your cat friendly or timid? A timid cat requires a fully covered carrier so they feel protected, where as a friendly cat is better suited to an open style carrier—so they can see all that is going on!

How often do you use it and will it ever need to be used on an airline?

As a matter of fact whether you use it once or a million times it still should be a quality carrier—sturdy in manufacture and not useless should one clip go missing.

If you think you may ever have the need to transport your kitty by plane then you will require an airline approved carrier—we can advise you more on this—just ask!

So What to Look For When Buying A Carrier...

The construction of the cage—CRITICAL

If its cheap then more often than not it wont be much good—we know because we have seen them all. However expensive doesn't mean its any good either.

What to Check For:

Metal Front Door—which locks into molded plastic—not plastic lugs

A simple door catch—anything with too many parts will be impossible to repair

Plastic Cages—check the plastic is a high grade, solid plastic—cheaper plastics wont hold more than a couple of kg's securely

Joining Mechanisms—if the cage has connectors these should be metal or heavy grade plastic—and if you loose one you should be able to get another or use a secure method to fix the cage eg cable ties.

And Always Keep the Receipt—if it breaks you should take it back

OUT TO ALL DODGY CAGES
